SINKING OF THE HESPERIAN

United States Now Waiting On Germany For an Explanation

MAY DISAVOW ATTACK

Unofficial Information Makes it Appear That No Crisis Will Follow Attack on Steamer.

Washington, Sept. 7— Unofficials information has reached Washington that the German government will disavow the attack on the Hesperian, if the reports of the captain of the submarine, which is supposed to have torpedoed her, substantiate the British statement that the ship was torpedoed without warning.

Secretary Lansing did not visit the State Department yesterday nor was any dispatch received from Ambassador Page or Consul Frost, at Queenstown, which might have added to the meager information already officially transmitted. The administration is reserving judgment, as it did when the news of the destruction of the Arabic was received, but this time it is giving Germany the benefit of the doubt. In view of the unequivocal assurance of the German government, transmitted through Count von Bernstorff, that the submarine policy of indiscriminate attack on passenger ships had been abandoned, Washington is disposed to believe either that the ship was not torpedoed without warning or that she was not torpedoed at all, but struck a mine.

In view of the German claim that the Admiralty had been instructed to abandon the ruthless policy of Grand Admiral von Tirpitz even before the Arabic was sunk, it is not regarded as possible in Washington that a German submarine captain could repeat deliberately the crime which less than a fortnight ago threatened to involve this country in war with the United States. This government will accept without reserve any explanation sent by Germany, for the German government has shown its absolute truthfulness in matters of the gravest importance.

The cause of the injury to the American freighter Nebraskan threatened to remain a mystery, for although the American naval attache at London sent to the Navy Department some few remnants of metal found in the Nebraskan's bow, from which it was hoped the experts might decide whether the Nebraskan had been hit by a torpedo or a mine, no explanation was ever found by the naval experts, but the German government surprised Washington one day by the frank announcement that one of her submarines reported the torpedoing of the Nebraskan.

Similarly it is not doubted in Washington that if the Hesperian was attacked by a torpedo the German government will not seek refuge in any subterfuge or suppression of the truth. It is believed that the German government will disavow the act, punish the officer responsible, and express its sincere regret for the incident, if the submarine's captain has no good explanation to offer for his action. It has been suggested in some quarters that the captain of the submarine overhauling the Hesperian at dusk, and seeing a gun mounted on the stern and seeing groups of uniformed soldiers on her decks, whom he could not, of course, recognize at the distance between the ships as invalided soldiers, came to the conclusion that the Hesperian was a transport and thus a lawful target.

Count von Bernstorff is expected at the State Department today. It is believed that he will again ask Secretary Lansing to suspend judgment on the Hesperian, as he did in the case of the Arabic, assuring Mr. Lansing that his goverment will afford every satisfaction. The Ambassador's task will not be difficult, for on last Wednesday he gave Mr. Lansing the written assurance of the German government that no liners would be attacked without warning.

The forethought of the Ambassador in persuading his government to authorize him to submit in advance this extract from the German note which may not be delivered in full for some time is now thoroughly vindicated, for it is a fact that with this written assurance before it, the administration is convinced that the destruction of the Hesperian does not represent the intention of the German government. There is entirely absent in Washington that feeling of apprehension of a crisis that attended the news of the destruction of the Arabic. There is every disposition to await patiently the explanation of the German government and there is this time the complete assurance felt that the explanation will prove fully satisfactory.

The principal feeling in Washington is a sincere regret that the Hesperian incident occured at a time when the relations between this country and Germany have just been restored to their normal basis of friendship.

SENATORS PLEDGE SUPPORT

Martin and Swanson Will Vote to Make District of Columbia Dry

Richmond, Sept. 7—Senator Thomas S. Martin and Claude A. Swanson are in Richmond, stopping at Murphy's Hotel. Dr. James Cannon, Jr chairman of the National Legislative Committee of the Anti-Saloon of America, called to see the senators last night and requested them to give their support to the prohibition legislation which will be presented to Congress by the Anti-Saloon League the coming session.

The principal legislation which will be proposed in Congress will be Prohibition for the District of Columbia and the national constitutional prohibition amendment. Prohibition for the District of Columbia was proposed last January in an amendment offered by Senator Morris Shepherd, of Texas, to the District of Columbia appropriation bill. The amendment was debated for several days under several parliamentary motions, and finally lost on a question of procedure.

Both of the Virginia Senators voted for the Shepherd amendement last January, and both of them assured Dr. Cannon that they would give the measure active support next winter.

The National Constitutional Prohibition Amendment was voted upon by the House of Representatives on December 22, 1914, and all of the ten Virginia Congressmen voted for the submission of the amendment, except Congressman Carlin, of Alexandria, and Montague, of Richmond. The amendment did not get before the Senate for discussion or vote, but strong effort will be made to secure a favorable report from the Senate Judiciary Committee and to bring it to a vote in the Senate.

Both Senator Martin and Senator Swanson stated that they would give their active support to the effort to secure a report from the Judiciary Committee of the Senate, and would also vote for the submission of the amendment to the several States of the Union. They stated that they considered themselves to be the representatives of the people of Virginia, and as Virginia had voted for Prohibition by a large majority, they thought they should represent the wishes of their people in Congress.

ACCIDENT TO A VETERAN

Struck by an Automobile at Union Station, Washington.

Capt. Henry H. Marmaduke, 74 years old, of 1231 Eleventh street northwest, was taken to Casualty Hospital late last night after being twice struck by two different automobiles while he was crossing the street in front of the Union Station. Casualty Hospital physicians believe he sustained a fracture of the skull. His condition is reported as serious and doubtful.

It was learned last night that Capt. Marmaduke was returning from Winchester, Va. where he had attended the funeral of an aged comrade. He was about to cross to take a car in front of the station when he was struck by an unidentified automobile, which threw him in the way of another backing out from the taxi stand.

Capt. Marmaduke is employed in one of the divisions of the Navy Department here. He has lived here for many years. He is remembered by navy circles here as having rendered signal service for the Confederacy during the civil war.

RUSSIANS MAKE INVASION DEAR

Czar's Troops Make Violent Attacks Eastward of Sereth River

ADVANCE SLACKENED

Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's Right Wing But a Short Distance From the Niemen.

London, Sept. 7—Further evidence of the determination of the Russians to hold what little of Galician territory is still in their hands and wherever forced to retreat to render the gains of the Austro-Germans as costly as possible in men and material, is given in the Austrian war office statement issued in Vienna.

This statement tells of a repetition of violent Russian attacks to the east of the Sereth River, though it adds that "the enemy was repulsed everywhere." A slackening of the Russian offense east of Brody and West Dubno also is reported by the Austrian war office.

According to the official German report there is "no change in the Baltic to to the eastward of Grodno."

This indicates that the advance of the Teutonic alllies is markedly slow as compared with their steady onward dash of the month past. Some military critics infer from this that Field Marshall Von Hindenburg has decided to give his armies on the front a brief but much needed rest by reducing the tempus of the march. Reconstruction and further building up of the communications also is believed to have to do with the new lull.

The Germans apparently have not been able to follow up by further progress toward Riga their capture last Thursday of the important bridgehead of Friedrichstadt. In this particular region there can be no question of the Teuton intention to dash ahead toward the Russian Baltic seaport and to permit no considerations to interfere with their onward movement. It is therefore to be presumed that the Russians are putting up a strong and stubborn resistance, resolved to hold the port at all odds. Dispatches from Copenhagen tell of a new entrance of German warships in the Gulf of Riga, driving Russian ships before them. This is taken by some military observers to mean that the Germans are preparing for a join land and sea attack upon Riga. General Von Beseler, called "the battering ram" in recognition of his capture of Antwerp and Novo Georgievsk is to direct the land bombardment.

Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's right wing is reported by Berlin to be approaching the Nieman in its drive on Vilpa. Advance of Prince Leopold's armies across the Ros and through the swamps northeast of Prushovy also is reported by the German war office as is progress of Von Mackensen's forces toward Pinsk.

In the Austrian official statement the capture of the last Russian fortified positions south of the Jasiolda River is reported and is regarded as significant.

Dispatches from Petrograd state that General Alexis Evert who has been in command of one of the Russian armies, has been appointed to succeed General Alexieff as commander in chief on the western front of the Russian theatre of war.

MYSTERY IN DEADLY BLOW

Man Found With Wound on Head Dies Without Giving Clew.

Wilmington, Del. Sept. 7—With a wound on the head, evidently made by a blow from a blunt instrument, Thomas McMonigle, 33 years old, was found unconscious beside the Baltimore and Ohio railroad near the Shallcross avenue crossing, early Sunday morning. The place is a lonely one and the discovery was made by the crew of a shifting engine.

McMonigle was taken to the Delaware Hospital where he died a few hours later without regaining consciousness. At first it was thought he had been struck by a passing train.

FATALLY SHOT IN CAMP

Victim Had Gone to Visit Friend and Bullet Traversed More Than a Square

Atlantic City, Sept. 7—His right lung pierced by a bullet from the rifle of a boy camper at Maryland avenue and the Thoroughfare Sunday, John Viasso, 17 years old, died on the way to the City Hospital. An hour later Le Roy Vaniman, 16 years old, arrived at police headquarters in company with his aunt and told Captain of Detectives Whalen that he had fired the fatal shot. Vaniman wept pitiably as he told his story, insisting over and over again that the tragedy was due solely to accident. The police believe him, but he is held pending the action of the coroner.

For the past week the camp had been maintained by several boys residing in the Inlet section and young Viassa went out shortly after noon to visit one of his friends. Vaniman is said to have been target shooting a square away from Viasso when the fatal shot was fired. Seated on a box, Viasso leaped in terror to his feet, and his cries brought two of his friends. Statements made by all the boys confirmed the accident theory.

PERILS OF SUBMARINING

Germany Forced to Appeal to Volunteers to Man Boats.

Paris, Sept. 7—One day a German submarine was sunk in English waters. The undersea's commander had sworn to sacrifice his life in finding the British fleet. But when he stood a prisoner on the deck of an English ship and his eye searched the sea for the armada, not a single vessel appeared on the horizon.

Despite statements to the contrary by the German admiralty and newspapers the English have already sunk a lot of submarines. They have sunk such a considerable number that their one desire seems to be for the submarine war to continue.

They have good reason to attribute Germany's conciliating attitude toward the United States to a desire to find a gracious pretext for abandoning it.

Submarine duty has become a nightmare in the German navy. Despite their habits of passive obedience the crews flatly refuse to go aboard and the government is forced to appeal for volunteers.

MR. ARMOUR ROBBED

Masked Men Secure $3,000 in Jewelry $75 in Money.

Chicago;Sept 7—Mrs. J. Oden Armour in her residence; Michigan Ave. was held up and robbed of $3,000 in jewelry and $75 in money last night shortly after the dinner hour by two masked men who escaped.

Mrs. Armour was forced at the point of a revolver in the hands of the masked bandits to retire into an upstairs room, where, with three maids, she was locked while the men ransacked the house.

While one of the masked men stood guard over Mrs. Armour and her maids, the other man turned over the jewel boxes found in the various rooms and otherwise prosecuted the search for valuables.

Both men wore handkerchiefs over their faces, but a good description of them was obtained from Mrs. Armour as well as the maids and the police immediately began to search.

GEN. JOFFRE AT ITALIAN FRONT

Japanese Mission Arrives as Frenchman Starts to Leave

MEETING IS OMINOUS

Plans Discussed For Repelling Austro-German Move on Serbia—Nippon Promises Shells for Allies.

Rome, Sept. 7—Plans for close cooperation of the allied armies in a grand scheme of offensive operations against the Austro-Germans and the Turks, brought General Joffre, French commander-in-chief, to the Italian front, it was reported here today.

While Joffre was preparing to depart, a Japanese military mission arrived in Rome and proceeded to the front. In both movements the Italian press today saw considerable significance.

The military critic of the Idea Nazionale declared that General Joffre discussed with General Cadorna and King Victor Emmanuel plans for meeting the expected Austro-German offensive directed at Serbia.

The counter stroke, it was hinted, would be a simultaneous offensive movement on both the French and Italian fronts that would draw both Germans and Austrians to the protection of their own frontiers.

Accompanying the Japanese military mission were several ordnance experts, who are to observe particularly the needs of Japan's allies in the matter of shells and other war munitions. It is reported here that Japan has promised to aid both Russia and France with shell shipments within a few months.

DISPLEASED WITH MESSAGE

German Paper Comments on Agreement With America.

Berlin, Sept. 7—The Vossische Zeitung devotes three columns to discussion of the situation as regards Germany and the United States under the heading, The Agreement With America. After impliedly expressing dissatisfaction at the message conveyed by Ambassador Von Bernstorff to the Washington authorities; it declares:

"Complete unanimity reigns in Germany in the wish to maintain unaltered peace between Berlin and Washington. Ambassador Von Berstorff's explanation must not be taken either as an admission of any guilt in past procedures or as an indication of fear or weakness.

"It must be reiterated that the torpedoing of the Lusitania, no matter how lamentable from a humanitarian standpoint left no stain upon Germany's honor. The same holds true for the Arabic. If it ever becomes possible to clear up this case through unobjectionable evidence it will be shown that the captain of the Arabic himself was guilty of his fate and that of his passengers.

"It must also be specifically pointed out that submarine warfare against merchant vessels will now, as formerly—and, it is to be hoped with unremitting vigor—be carried on. There can be no talk of any 'result' for Great Britain. British merchant marine losses will not be lessened in the future. Great Britain must not permit herself to hope she may succeed in the future through sordid manipulations in making use of German good nature.

"Our admissions to America have restrictions. Our agreement counts only in case British passenger steamers do not try to harm our submarines. If Great Britain in the future believes it will be possible to deal lightly with the lives of American citizens she will have to bear the consequence as before. Through our step we have proved to Americans—if it were necessary —in the most loyal way how highly we value the relations existing between them and us. It is surely known in leading circles in the United States that even a declaration of war by America against Germany could no longer do real harm to the German cause."

LYNCHING AVERTED

Railroad Train Crew Saves Negro From Mob's Jury

A lynching was narrowly averted by a train crew of the Chesapeake Beach Railroad at Chesapeake Beach Junction last night, when a crowd of white men attempted to inflict vengeance upon John Marshall, colored, for having slashed Raymond Fitzpatrick, 22 years old, of Washington in a fight on the train. The crew with difficulty kept the crowd at bay and protected the colored man during the trip from the beach.

When Conductor Luther Ward and Brakeman Carl Griffith alighted from the train at the Junction with the colored man, the crowd swarmed around them. Fearing the man would be killed, the trainmen fairly dragged their prisoner to the little station pushed him inside and turned the key in the door just as the crowd got there.

For a while it looked as though the crowd would enter by force and take the law in their own hands, but upon the arrival of a deputy sheriff and a special county officer the crowd was dispersed. Justice of the Peace A. J Edson held a preliminary hearing and charged the colored man with assault with intent to kill. Hattie Jones, a young colored woman, who was with Marshall, was sentenced to six months, having assisted Marshall in his fight on the train.

Fitzpatrick was rushed to Casualty Hospital, where it was found several arteries in the left arm had been cut. His condition is serious from loss of blood, but doctors say he will live.

The colored man and woman boarded the train when it stopped at Marlboro, Md., for a dispatch, the conductor said. The "jimcrow" law being in effect in Maryland, the conductor demanded an explanation of them. A fight ensued, in which the conductor was bitten by the colored woman.

After the two had been placed under arrest by the crew the man began to curse and swear, according to the conductor. The white men crowded about the negro, and when he continued his flow of vile language the crowd surged down upon him. In the fracas the prisoner drew a knife and began to slash with it.

Before the train crew could quiet the angry passengers Marshall had been badly beaten. Fitzpatrick's wound distracted attention from the negro long enough for the conductor to get him to a place of safety for the remainder of the trip. When the two had been locked up at the junction after the hearing a small crowd of white men lingered with stones but at midnight the junction was quiet.

HESPERIAN GOES DOWN

Loss of Liner in Deep Water May Prevent Determination of Cause.

London, Sept. 7—The Allan Line steamer Hesperian sank at 6:45 o'clock yesterday morning, after Captain Main and a volunteer rescue crew of 25 had made a brave fight to bring the crippled ship into port. During the night the Hesperian settled gradually by the head. Daylight showed the decks awash and the liner about to take the final plunge.

The captain and crew were taken off by rescue boats and landed later in Queenstown by the steamer Empress.

The sinking of the Hesperian in deep water probably will prevent an investigation to determine whether the disaster resulted from a submarine's torpedo or from a mine. Passengers and crew assert positively that the vessel was struck by a torpedo, but thus far, no statement has been obtained from anyone who saw a submarine or a torpedo.

Queenstown, Sept. 7— Captain Main; of the Hesperian, made the statement yesterday that the vessel had been torpedoed and that no warning was given.

Two minesweepers and two Admiralty tugs attempted to tow the Hesperian to port, but the ship, partly filled with water, was so unmanageable and the sea was so heavy that no progress could be made.

CHARGES AGAINST DOCTOR'S WIDOW

Letters Found on Body of Murdered Man Held by The Police

TELL-TALE MISSIVES

No Answers Given Queries Propounded by Newspaper Men—Alleged Jealousy of Mrs. Mohr.

Providence, Sept. 7—Letters found on the body of Dr. C. Franklin Mohr will be used by the police to connect Mrs. Elizabeth Blair Mohr, his widow, who is accused of hiring three negroes to kill him, and Cecil Victor Brown, one of the colored men who on Thursday last confessed that he had fired the shots that resulted in Mohr's death.

These communications, now streaked with the blood of the murdered man, were in his pocket when he started on the fatal ride to his Newport home with Miss Emily Burger, his secretary. The explanation of their presence lies in the fact that they were intercepted in the physician's household, where Brown for a few weeks was an employe.

According to the police, one of these letters was in the handwriting of Mrs. Mohr. The other, in their opinion, proves by its context that it was written at Mrs. Mohr's direction. Neither of these letters contains anything more than to ask Brown to get in communication with her, but from the police point of view they are of major importance as a link in the chain of evidence against the woman and the colored men who have said they were hired assasins.

Mrs. Mohr was requested by reporters to answer several questions bearing on the confessions made by Brown, a prisoner in the Bristol jail with George Healis and Henry Spellman, the others accused of the murder.

The queries were presented to Arthur Cushing, her attorney, and James F. McCartin, his partner, and elicited this response:

"Announcement is made that Mrs. Mohr and Messrs. McCartin and Cushing, her lawyers, had a conference and concluded that it would not now be judicious to answer the questions propounded by newspaper correspondents. They would like to clear up these matters, but feel that it is good policy to simply wait and allow the State to establish its case on September 16."

Today the searchlight of the police inquiry will be turned on Providence entirely. Officials of the various counties concerned in the crime will gather and map out a program. Part of this plan will be the questioning of Florence Ormsby, an employe in Dr. Mohr's home.

She has said she had several differences with Mrs. Mohr because of the wife's jealousy of her husband. She will be asked to go into further details about these quarrels.

The last link against the negroes was forged to the satisfaction of the police when Chief Thomas E. Robbins, of Barrington, confronted the prisoners with the two men who say they saw them escaping from the scene of the crime.

The two men, named Selley and Deaucharme, identified the negroes in the prison yard, one at a time, first full face and then in profile.

"I am sure those are the fellows I saw," said Selley later. "Deaucharme and I were out fishing on the shores of Echo lake when we heard what at the first explosion sounded like a tire blowout. But these explosions came with such frequency that I knew we were mistaken."

TRACK HAND IS KILLED

Arthur Simpson Struck by Electric Train at Hume's Crossing Early This Afternoon

Arthur Simpson, residing on Wilkes street, between Alfred and Patrick, was struck by a northbound electric train at Hume's crossing shortly after noon to day and fatally injured. The unfortunate man was employed as a track hand by the Washington-Virginia Railway company and was at work when the electric train appeared speeding northward. Before he could get out of the way he was struck and thrown some distance. He was hurried to the Emergency Hospital in Washington, and died soon after reaching that institution. It was found that his skull was fractured and he had received other injuries.

He was 46 years old.

The deceased is survived by a widow and one child. He was a son of Gilbert Simpson. This is the second son the latter has lost by railroad accidents. In the early part of 1889 Ed. Simpson, while at work for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in Washington, was caught between cars and crushed to death.

ALLEGED HE WAS ROBBED

Visitor From Loudoun County Loses $65 While in Company with Two Men in This City.

E. P. Corbitt, of Ashburn, Loudoun county, told the story in police court this morning of now he had been robbed of $65 by two men on Sunday afernoon. He took a drink from a bottle of whiskey which he had given one of the men the money to buy it with and became unconscious. When he came to his senses several hours later he was minus his roll.

The police charged Frank Wilkins, one of the two men who were with Corbitt, with the robbery. Justice Caton dismissed the robbery charge but fined Wilkins $50 for selling whiskey on Sunday and $25 for destroying city property. After Wilkins was locked up he broke several electric bulbs and gas fixtures in the police station.

The prisoner was represented by Attorney Robinson Moncure, who noted an appeal to the corporation court.

NEGRESSES IN A FIGHT

Continue Combat Without Let or Hindrance Until Both Are Exhausted

Two colored women started yesterday afternoon for the river at the foot of Wilkes street for the purpose of whiling away the second half of Labor Day fishing. Fish didn't bite, however, and while they were awaiting "nibbles" they began to quarrel over a man who happened to be close by. The women had taken positions on a sunken scow and the quarrel becoming acute, they dropped their reds and grappled. One of the combattants grabbed her antagonist by the top of the head and pulled out all her hair at one swoop. It proved to be a wig, however, and was dashed overboard with contempt. The couple clinched, rolled each other over and over the water which had collected in the scow, and in less time than it takes to tell it one of the belligerents had been denuded of her upper clothing, her shirt waist having entirely disappeared in themelee.

The man who had been the innocent cause of the fight appeared and endeavored to part the women, but they fought like wild cats, and he could do nothing with them. First one and then the other was the under combattant, when the woman who was temporarily getting the worst of the punishment shrieked piteously as her antagonist was sinking her teeth in her breast. She managed to shake off her tormentor when both rose to their feet and rushed at each other again as tigresses. The mill, however, was drawing to a close and the women evenutally ceased to clinch. Still quarreling, but greatly exhausted, the combattants gathered their fishing tackle, left the scow and approached the man who had been a spectator of the fight. Each took one of his arms and the trio sauntered slowly up the hill, the women with their tears and smiles mingling.

The Rev. L. F. Kelly, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, and the Rev. M. M. J. Ahern, left last night for Norfolk to attend the funeral of Rev. Edward J. Walsh, of Norfolk, which took place this morning. Father Walsh was one of the priests who officiated at the funeral of the late Father Cutler here las Thursday.

SCHOLARS WILL PARADE.

Sunday Schools of City Will Appear In Line On Streets Next Month.

The Sunday School parade, which was first held in Alexandria a year ago, and which was a pronounced success, increasing interest and attendance among the scholars and giving the public an idea of the work accomplished by the various department of the sunday school, is to be repeated next month.

Preparations are now being made for the affair on even a more elaborate scale than that of the previous year. Committees have been named to take charge of the various features and are now at work.

A meeting of the executive committee, composed of representatives of all the unday schools, will meet in the Young People's Building tonight at 7:45 o'clock to consider some of the deails.

The High-Grade Shah Abbas Wilton Rugs

It gives us special pleasure to bring these High-grade Rugs so prominently to the attention of our patrons, because we believe they fully merit the important position which we have given them in this the greatest display of Foreign and Domestic Rugs we have ever brought together.

Shah Abbas Wilton Rugs are domestic-made rugs of superior quality Worsted Wilton, ranking with the highest grade weaves and qualities of Wilton Rugs. They are woven in a manner that evidences expert workmanship; the best imported dyes are used, which enable the makers to produce colors rivaling those of the finest handmade oriental rugs. They are shown in a wide variety of artistic patterns, most of them being copies of the finest Persian rugs.

IS THE UNITED STATES BEING BUNCOED?

The sinking last Saturday night of the Allan Liner Hesperian presumably by a German submarine, has reopened a perplexing case which we had reason to hope had been settled. Another ocean passenger steamer, supposed to be outside the danger zone, at a time when some of her passengers were enjoying chairs upon the deck and others their banks, has been attacked and finally sunk by a torpedo. It is suggested that Germany will be ready to disavow the act, but this will not do in the face of the fact that she still allows her undersea boats to remain in the highway of ocean travel and to continue their cruel acts. The same cry is made in Berlin as was heard when the Arabic was sunk—"The Hesperian may have struck a mine.

The United States has been long suffering during the prevalence of the present war; and notwithstanding acts upon the part of Germany have caused indignation the country has continued to keep its temper; supposing it has to do with reasonable people. But it seems strange that at a time when the people of the United States were rejoicing in the belief that the ing to a satisfactory ending, the anperplexing submarine issue was drawnouncement is suddenly made of another overt act akin to the sinking of the Lusitania and the Arabic.

The Baltimore American this morning said:

"When the plain and unequivocal statement of the attitude of the American government with regard to submarine warfare was presented to the German government, following the loss of many American lives through the sinking of the Lusitania and after there had been several equivocating answers from Berlin, came the sinking of the Arabic with the loss of other American lives. Then Americans with one accord and in all parts of the country began to ask, Is this Germany's answer to the American government's protest and warning? But Ambassador Bernstorff, under instruction of his government, explained that the sinking of the Arabic, if is was sent to the bottom by a torpedo from a German submarine, was contrary to instructions that had been issued and contrary to the intentions of the German government. Now comes again the torpedoing of the steamer Hesperian with 350 passengers abroad, many of whom were women and children. That there did not result another appalling slaughter of noncombatants is because the ship was kept afloat for hours by the quick closing of all but two of her watertight compartments. Again the American nation is awaiting the explantion from Berlin.

"The American people are already asking if the sinking of another passenger liner in the dark is not in violation of both the spirit and the letter of the Bernstorff promise, made scarcely ten days before the third murderous attack on a passenger liner occured."

THE CASE OF DOCTOR DUMBA

A problem confronting the State Department just now is the conduct of Doctor Dumba, the Austrian ambassador, who is to call on Secretary Lansing today to explain the letters found in the possession of James F. J. Archibald, who was detained in London while on his way to Germany on information supplied by the British Ambassador in Washington.

It is alleged that he wrote letters to his government outlining his plans for disorganizing the big ammunition factories in this country.

Should this charge be substantiated, there is but one course for this country to pursue—request the Austrian government to appoint some other representative to Washington, as he will be persona non grata to the United States.

When Grover Cleveland was running for a second term in 1888 and was being opposed by Benjamin Harrison Lionel Sackvile West was British Minister in Washington. West in writing to an English-born citizen of the United States gave his opinion of the political issues before the country which was inimical to the democratic cause. England was informed that the Minister's usefulness in this country was at an end—in fact, he was not acceptable to the United States. He was recalled and his successor appointed.

Austria is very sensitive. It has been the claim of Francis Joseph that he is supreme in his own realms to such an extent that he never allows any foreign representations to influence him in any way. Shortly after Grover Cleveland's inauguration in 1885 he appointed Mr. Kiely, a citizen of Richmond, Va. Minister to Italy. Mr. Kiely had made violent protests at public gatherings in Richmond against the action of Victor Immanuel in invading Rome and breaking up the temporal power of Pope Pius IX in 1870. Italy informed this country that Mr. Kiely was persona non grata, and he was subsequently appointed Minister to Austria. Francis Joseph looked around for some excuse to thwart President Cleveland, and upon having his attention called to the fact that Mrs. Kiely was a Jewess, he informed the United States that this was unfortunate, as Jews were not allowed at public receptions in Austria, which would be awkward in diplomatic functions should Mr. Kiely come to Vienna.

Mr. Kiely, of course, declined the appointment under such circumstances. The United States now has an opportunity of showing that Austrian representatives are liable to be unacceptable as diplomats.

NETTING THE LEVIATHANS.

Great Britain, it is claimed, has captured or sunk at least fifty German submarines during the present summer. Others have met disasters in various ways, and it is suggested that Germany would be glad to find an excuse for discontinuing undersea warfare, as it costs more than the damage inflicted upon the allies' vessels, to say nothing of the odium which attaches to such a mode of warfare.

Dispatches from Europe show that Germany is experiencing trouble in securing volunteers for undersea boats. It is naturally regarded as a risky business, as there is no telling how soon submarines will find they are captives in British nets, to be towed to land as are sturgeon.

The Virginian-Pilot of Norfolk recently said:

"According to certain foreign correspondents of the more enterprising American newspapers, English necessity has been the mother of a marvelous invention. If these purveyors of the new and startling are to be believed. the daily divertisement of retired officers of the British navy is to sally forth at early dawn in swift motor boats equipped with steel fishing nets of enormous dimensions and sweep the under waters for those monsters of the deep which have so long preyed with impunity on the surface craft of the erstwhile mistress of the ocean. Nor is it, we are told, an uncommon result of this novel piscatorial sport that the venturesome trawler should return to port on the turn of the tide towing a German submarine as a captive to the meshes of his strange device. Such is said to have been the fate of the submerged assassin of the Arabic and it is hinted that scores of Germany's submerged prowlers have met the same doom within the past few weeks. On the same authority we are told that the British Admiralty has suppressed public mention for fear that knowledge of what was going on might induce Admiral von Tirpitz to withdraw his whole submarine fleet to a place of safety in the unapproachable Bight of Helgoland or the Kiel basin."

NEWS OF THE DAY

The Turkish torpedoboat destroyer Yar Hissar has been sunk in the Sea of Marmora by an allied submarine.

Two men and two women were killed at a railroad crossing, one mile west of Victor, N. Y., last night, when a Lehigh Valley train struck an automobile in which they were riding.

Three officers and 25 men of the crew were captured by the Turks when a submarine of the entente allies was shelled and sunk by a Turkish coast guard ship according to a dispatch from Berlin.

The British steamer Cymbeline has been sunk by a submarine. Six members of the crew were killed and six were injured. The British steamer Mimosa, from New York for Belfast has been sunk by a torpedo. The crew was saved.

Capt. William Mendin, of Mobile; Cook George Olsen, of Pensacola, and six of the crew of the fishing schooner John S. Whilden, of Mobile, were drowned when a hurricane hit the vessel off the Florida coast near Apalachicola Sunday.

Two men, riders of a motorcycle that crashed at high speed into an automobile truck were killed early last night at Mobile, Ala., and two who were passengers of a side car on the motorcycle were injured, one probably fatally.

Six second cabin passengers, six third cabin passengers and thirteen of the crew of the steamer Hesperian, torpedoed 150 miles off Queenstown Saturday evening are unaccounted for. It is now a mooted question whether the Hesperian was struck by a torpedo or a mine.

A dispatch to the Paris Temps from Dedeagatch says a Turkish colonel gives the strength of the Ottoman army now as 850,000. Turkey mobilized 1,300,000 men and has lost nearly 500,000. There are 190,000 at the Dardanelles, 300,000 on the Caucasus front, 70,000 in Constantinople, 50,000 at Adrianople, and 200,000 in Syria and Asia Minor.

The Russians it is reported have evacuated Dago. The Germans claim possession of the Gulf of Riga. Reports from all regions affected by the invasion describe the unprecedented movement of tens of thousands of refugees. On the Warsaw-Moscow road alone fully 6,000 persons are proceeding from the Cholm, Lubin, and Lomaz provinces.

Three women were almost instantly killed and two men injured, probably fatally, when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a northbound interurban car at a street crossing in Wyandotte, a suburb of Detroit, Mich., yesterday. The automobile is believed to have become stalled on the car tracks. It was carried 50 feet and demolished.

An earth shock of extraordinary violence was recorded last night on seismographs at Georgetown University in Wash. The disturbance began at 9:17 o'clock. A violent volcanic disturbance, of two hours' duration coming from a point apparently 3,000 miles northwest of St. Louis, was recorded by the seismograph at the St. Louis University Observatory last night. Twenty-three distinct shocks were recorded.

Judge Willis S. Knowles, of the Eighth District Court of Rhode Island, was shot and killed in Scituate, about five miles from Providence yesterday by an unknown person. The police have placed under arrest two Italians in connection with the murder. The district is thickly populated with Italians and it is said Judge Knowles incurred their hatred by imposing on several Italians heavy fines for violations of the Massachusetts game laws.

"I am glad I killed her," boasted Giovani Viglione, aged 27, after three women had dramatically described in the Central Police Court of Philadelphia yesterday how he had murdered his pretty 23-year old sister Antoinette by shooting her three times as she sat in their Fitzwater street home Sunday night. He explained that he had killed the girl because he feared she was living a life that would bring disgrace upon herself and him.

Twenty persons were injured, three fatally, when an aeroplane dashed into a crowd of people at a Labor day celebration last night at Washington Ind. Oscar Cook, a Chicago aviator, lost control of his machine when he landed after a short flight. He was not hurt. When the machine touched the ground it swerved and knocked down a refreshment stand, and then ploughed through the crowd. Many children were trampled in the rush that followed.

Frank Grano, an Italian, shot and killed three persons within an hour on the farm of Levin T. Robinson, about three miles from Snow Hill, Md. His victims are Levin T. Robinson, a farmer; Mrs. Robinson, and Alonzo Rettan, Grano, who had been employed on the Robinson farm, said that he killed the three persons because he was in love with Mrs. Robinson. He believed that Mrs. Robinson had shown fondness for Rettan, and he could not endure the thought of permitting her to love another man.

President Wilson has abundant precedents in the history of our diplomatic relations to demand the recall of Count Johann von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, and Dr. M. Constantin Dumba, the Austro-Hungarian Ambassador, without giving offense to their respective governments. For less pernicious interference in the internal affairs of the United State than either of them has been accused of, American presidents in the past have obtained the recall of three British ministers, two French ministers and two Spanish ministers.

In a free-for-all revolver battle in East Thirteenth street near First avenue, New York, yesterday a child was hit by a stray bullet and is dying and one woman and three men were wounded. The street was crowded by Italians celebrating a religious festival when a dispute arose between a push cart peddler and a boy who demanded that he refund two cents he had paid for an ear of corn. Men took sides in the quarrel and in a moment firing broke out. Police dispersed the rioters. Ambulances took the wounded to the hospital.

Constantinople advices state that the speedy arrival of German forces is now the only hope young Turks have of relieving the desperate plight of the city. With the lack of coal and flour the mills are nearly all idle and bread is often unprocurabe. Free fights are of daily occurrence around the few bakeries still able to work. The Greeks and Armenians are naturally the greatest sufferers, the government caring only for the relief of the Mussulman population. At night the streets and houses are plunged into darkness by reason of the stoppage of supplies of gas and petroleum.

In retaliation for what the French war office term a surprisingy wanton aerial attack on Luneville by German taubes, forty French airmen yesterday raided the German town of Saarbruck, in the Rhine province, causing considerable damage. The railway station, factories and military establishment were bombarded. During the German raid of Luneville, which the French ministry states is an open town with no military works of any character, the Germans dropped bombs on the most thickly settled section of the city. The market day crowds suffered heavily from the rain of projectiles from the clouds, many women and children being claimed as victims.

VIRGINIA NEWS

"My wife wouldn't kiss me, judge, and that's what caused the whole trouble." Thus spoke J. H. Garnett in the Richmond Police Court yesterday, a few minutes before Justice Maurice had imposed a fine of $5 upon hm on the charge of disorderly conduct.

John Johnson, 20 years old, and David Wood, 45 years old, section workers on the Norfolk and Western railway, were found dead yesterday morning half a mile west of Bedford. They had been killed during the night by a train. The body of Johnson apparently was run over by several trains, as it was ground into small pieces, while his revolver was reduced to a mass of steel.

Marking the beginning of the most realistic war game and elaborate target practice ever attempted by the American navy, the torpedo flotilla of the Atlantic fleet steamed out to sea yesterday from Hampton Roads en route to the southern drill grounds off the Virginia Capes. The entire fleet, including 11 battleships, 4 cruisers and several auxiliaries, sailed today from Hampton Roads today to join the flotilla.

The funeral of Major Holmes Conrad, the Virginia lawyer, who died Saturday, took place from his home in Winchester yesterday afternoon. Services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. J. H. Lacy, pastor of the Presbyterian Church. On top of the coffin lay the sword he wore during the civil war and the flag of the Confederacy made of flowers. Among the honorary pallbearers were: Major Robert W. Hunter, Judge Thomas W. Harrison, and the Rev. Dr. Randolph H. McKim.

The Rev. Dr. J. A. Thomas, of Cumberland Street Methodist Church, Norfolk, has received a telegram from the Rev. Dr. Lipscomb, secretary of the Virginia Conference, Methodist Church South, announcing that the vote of the presiding elders on the place of meeting of the above conference (the vote was taken by mail) has resulted in Norfolk being selected by a majority of the elders for the conference session, which will be held in Cumberland Street Church beginning November 17. Norfolk has also been chosen as the place of meeting for the Virginia Woman's Missionary Conference of the Methodist church. Epworth church has been selected as the place to hold the sessions. The conference will come here in October.

WANTS MORE MEN

Germany Must Send 300,000 Troops Monthly to Front

Paris, Sept. 6—Backed by official information, the Temps says that Germany has already called or is about to call to the colors all troops that she can summon, and that she has now reached the low-water mark in men and resources. The article continues:

"Germany has to send 300,000 troops monthly to the front, merely to make good her wastage. We don't know how long she can keep this up, because we do not know how many men she intends to summon to the colors, but we are certain that in the end boys of sixteen will be seen fighting along side of men of sixty.

"The municipal authorities already have received secret instruction to register all available men between the ages of sixteen and fifty. She is now incorporating the final class of the second group of Landsturm that is, untrained men of from forty-three to forty-five, as well as the 1916 class. She still has the 1917 class, which, however, has been diminished by vountary enlistments, and she is now inspecting the 1918 class.

"Her losses in the Russian offensive have been enormous. As an indication of these losses, it can be said that her First Guard Regiment lost fourteen officers and 788 men, and her Ninety-second Regiment lost forty officers and 1,198 men."

GREECE REMAINS ON FENCE

Congress Passes Contraband Law and Adjourns to October 28.

Athens, Sept. 7—After passing a stringent law against contraband, Congress adjourned until October 28, at the close of an all night session. Premier Venizelos has not yet made a statement regarding the foreign policy his Government will pursue. The pressure of the allies upon Greece to meet the suggestions of the Quadruple Entente regarding territorial concession to Bulgaria apparently has slackened for the present at least. Interested diplomats declare it is now up to Greece to act.

Two Government employees have been arrested, charged with revealing to belligerent agents the contents of messages from opposing belligerents.

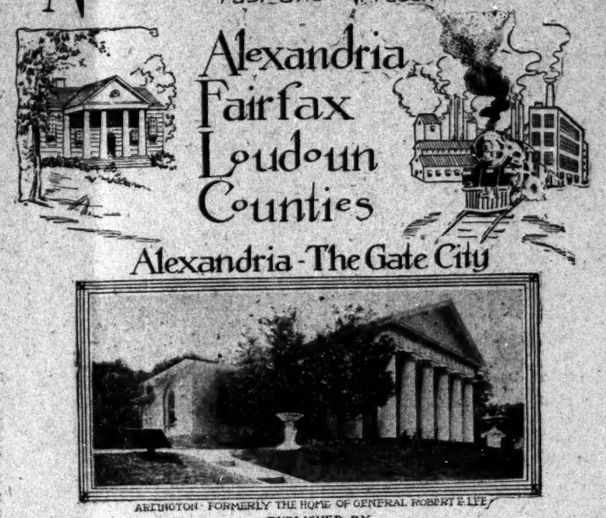
Boosting Northern Virginia

Frank Lyon, Alexandria County Publisher, Property Owner and Member of the Bar Engaged in Compilation of Valuable Issue.

FOREMOST CITIZENS AMONG EDITORIAL CONTRIBUTORS



THIS Reproduction shows Cover design printed in one color. On a heavy sepia cover stock two-color printing plates will be used, the actual printing surface being 8½ x 12 inches to the page. Only fine halftones will be used on the inside of the edition. DeLuxe copies will have additional cover of Leather, gold stamped title and silk cord binding.

Outsiders have often said of Virginia that it is impossible to "wake the dead." The Alexandria Gazette has always contended that there are none but honored dead in Virginia. History has left its imprint upon the people of the Old Dominion State. There are many historic buildings and places which have become famed the world over and are the mecca of the traveler.

There is, however, a newer and still greater Virginia coming into evidence, and Northern Virginia, comprising Alexandria, "The Gate City", and the counties of Alexandria, Fairfax and Loudoun, is taking its rightful place in this forward march of the Old Dominion.

It is gratifying to find that men of means in Northern Virginia are able to see the need of further development along these lines. Frank Lyon, Esq., who owns beautiful Lyonhurst, on the Great Falls Route, the man who is favorably known as a law practitioner in Washington, and the county, and who has been issuing for years that independent weekly The Monitor, at Rosslyn, has undertaken the task of giving to Northern Virginia the finest volume ever attempted in this section.

The Gazette presents herewith a reproduction in one color of the cover design adopted for this edition. The actual size of the design is 8 1-2 by 10 inches, while the size of the paper page will be 10 1-2 by 14 inches. The cover design will be printed in the "Home and Industries of Northern Virginia, Past and Present" edition of the Monitor in three colors on specially selected cover stock, while the inside will consist of high grade paper of good weight, so that fine illustrations may be used throughout the edition.

Among the contributors to this number will be Hon. Gardner L. Boothe, of Alexandria City, who will write on "Alexandria, The Gate City —Its History and it Possibilities." Mr. Crandal Mackey will write on "Alexandria County," while Judge R. Gordon Finney has undertaken the task of contributing an article on the "Industrial Development of Northern Virginia." "Loudoun County" will be carefully treated by Hon. Henry Fairfax, of Leesburg, Va.

Hon. R. C. Stearnes, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, with headquarters at Richmond, Va., will cover "Educational Facilities Affecting the Progress of Northern Virginia." A competent writer has practically promised to look after the interests of resort life in this edition, while Mr. M. E. Church has agreed to deal with the subject of "Public Utilities—Their Value to and Need in Northern Virginia." The home life will be ably dealt with by Mrs. Thos. R. Keith, of Fairfax, and the co-operation of home owners in all of Northern Virginia is anticipated to appropriately illustrate this article. Mr. Frank Lyon, editor of the Monitor, will prepare an article on "Historic Northern Virginia and Suggestions for its Development."

J. W. Monroe, President of the Retail Merchants Association of Alexandria, has selected as the title of his subject: "Advantages offered by Alexandria Retail Merchants in the 'Shop in Alexandria' Movement." Hon. G. P. Coleman, State Highway Commissioner at Richmond, is contributing an article on "Good Roads—Their Need and Value to Northern Virginia."

R. Walton Moore, Esq., of Fairfax, will look after the interests of "Fairfax County." Robert S. Barrett, publisher of the Alexandria Gazette, is handling the topic: "Newspapers and their Influence on the Development of Northern Virginia." A well-known writer will deal with the agricultural advantages of Northern Virginia and the farms. An article by Marvel Hall, a writer of repute, will deal with "Representative Virginians." That this subject will not only prove interesting on account of its high character, but also because under this head will appear truly "Representative Virginians", whose portraits are entitled to be classed with the leaders of the nation in other states, is certain.

Another article will deal with "Members of the Bench and Bar Who Have Faith and Interests in Northern Virginia," while group designs will be used in illustrating this subject, a number of the leaders having already intimated that they will gladly co-operate to make this feature a success. The whole edition will be more than one half illustrations. Information can be had free.

Other subjects will be taken up by Hon. Louis D. Brandeis, of Boston, and other writers of national fame will also do their part in making this edition interesting. It is, therefore, hoped that this unusual effort will command the support necessary to make not only a complete record of the "Past and Present," but to effectively point the way for the great future of Northern Virginia. The edition will be published in October and will have a far reaching circulation.

Those who recognize the merits of this preliminary announcement may secure further information by addressing The Monitor, De Luxe Edition Department, Washington Office, 808 Colorado Building. Assurance is given in advance that the character of the work will be far better than ordinarily expected and the price extraordinarily low, considering quality and circulation of this work of art.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA
CLERK OF THE HOUSE OF DELEGATES

Proposed amendments to the Constitution of Virginia, agreed to at session of General Assembly 1914, and published in pursuance of section 196 of the Constitution and act approved February 3, 1908.

JOINT RESOLUTION proposing an amendment to section 46, Article IV, of the Constitution.

Resolved by the House of Delegates, the Senate concurring (a majority of the members elected to each house agreeing thereto), That the following amendment to the Constitution of Virginia, be and the same is hereby, proposed and referred to the General Assembly to be chosen at the next general election of members of the House of Delegates for its concurrence, in conformity with the provisions of section one hundred and ninety-six of article fifteen of said Constitution, namely:

Strike out from the Constitution of Virginia, section forty-six of article four, which is in the following words:

Sec. 46. The General Assembly shall meet once in two years, on the second Wednesday in January, next succeeding the election of the members of the House of Delegates and not oftener, unless convened in the manner prescribed by this Constitution. No session of the General Assembly, after the first under this Constitution, shall continue longer than sixty days; but with the concurrence of three-fifths of the members elected to each house, the session may be extended for a period not exceeding thirty days. Except for the first session held under this Constitution, members shall be allowed a salary for not exceeding sixty days at any regular session, and for not exceeding thirty days at any extra session. Neither house shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn to another place nor for more than three days. A majority of the members elected to each house shall constitute a quorum to do business, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and shall have power to compel the attendance of members in such manner and under such penalty as each house may prescribe.

And insert in lieu thereof the following:

Sec. 46. The General Assembly shall meet once in two years, on the second Wednesday in January, next succeeding the election of the members of the House of Delegates, and not oftener, unless convened in the manner prescribed by this Constitution. No session of the General Assembly shall continue longer than ninety days, except that with the concurrence of three-fifths of the members elected to each house, the session may be extended for a period not exceeding thirty days. Neither house shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn to another place, not for more than three days. A majority of the members elected to each house shall constitute a quorum to do business, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and shall have power to compel the attendance of members in such manner and under such penalty as each house may prescribe.

JOINT RESOLUTION proposing amendment to section 50 of Article IV of the Constitution of Virginia, and providing for publishing said amendment, and certifying the same to the next General Assembly.

1. Resolved by the House of Delegates, the Senate concurring (a majority of the members elected to each house agreeing thereto), That the following amendment to the Constitution of Virginia, be and the same is hereby, proposed and referred to the General Assembly to be chosen at the next general election of members of the House of Delegates for its concurrence, in conformity with the provisions of section fifty of article four of said Constitution, namely:

Strike out from the Constitution of Virginia, section fifty, article four, which is in the following words:

Sec. 50. No law shall be enacted except by bill. A bill may originate in either house, to be approved or rejected by the other, or may be amended by either, with the concurrence of the other.

No bill shall become a law unless prior to its passage it has been—

(a) Referred to a committee of each house, considered by such committee in session, and reported;

(b) Printed by the house in which it originated, prior to its passage therein;

(c) Read at length on three different calendar days in each house; and unless,

(d) A yea and nay vote has been taken in each house upon its final passage, the names of the members voting for and against entered on the journal, and a majority of those voting, which shall include at least two-fifths of the members elected to each house, recorded in the affirmative.

And only in the manner required in sub-division (d) of this section shall an amendment to a bill by one house be concurred in by the other, or a conference report be adopted by either house, or either house discharge a committee from the consideration of a bill and consider the same as if reported; provided, that the printing and reading, or either, required in sub-division (b and c) of this section, may be dispensed with in a bill to codify the laws of the State, and in any case of emergency by a vote of four-fifths of the members voting in each house taken by the yeas and nays, the names of the members voting for and against, entered on the journal; provided further, that no bill which creates or established a new office, or which creates, continues or revives a debt or charge or makes, continues or revives any appropriation of public or trust money or property, or releases, or discharges, or commutes any claim or demand of the State, or which imposes, continues or revives a tax, shall be passed except by the affirmative vote of the majority of all the members elected to each house, the vote to be by the yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting for and against, entered on the journal. Every law imposing, continuing or reviving a tax shall specifically state such tax, and no law shall be construed as so stating such tax, which requires a reference to any other law or any other tax. The presiding officer of each house shall, in the presence of the house over which he presides, sign every bill which has been passed by both houses and duly enrolled. Immediately before this is done, all other business being suspended, the title of the bill shall be publicly read. The fact of the signing shall be entered on the journal.
